"We" are like a kaleidoscope,
Many parts, coming together
to form a whole.
Joined for a time, reflected
in each other.

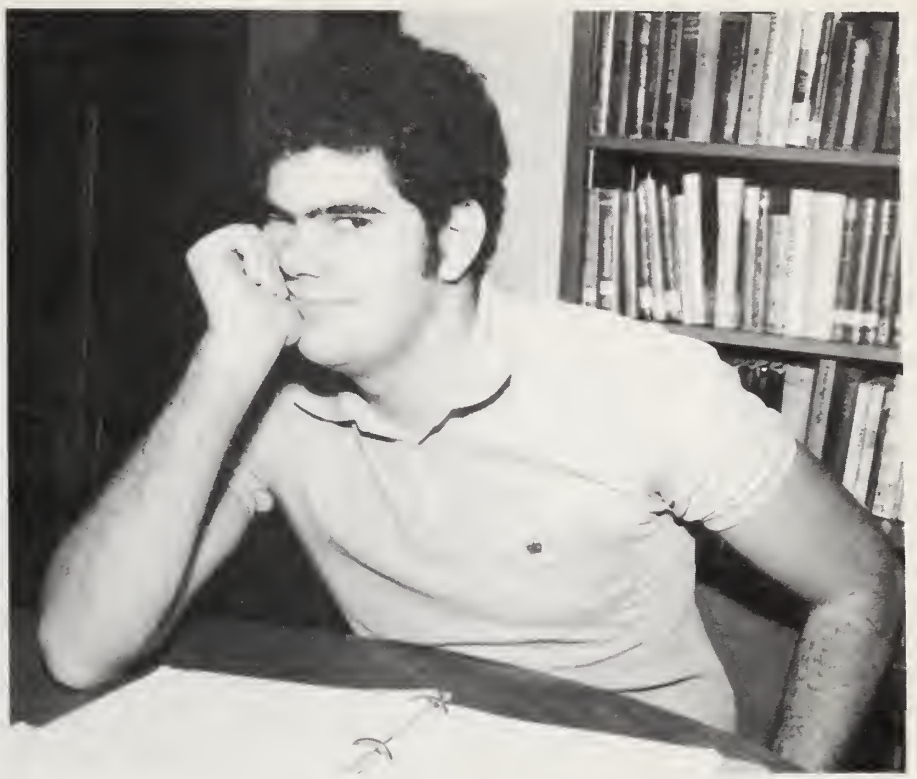

Then departing,
To become part of a new image,
In a constantly changing world.

Experience

Adaptable, alternating
for the moment, dormant.
Until the spectacles,
shimmers,
reflects,
and then

Transforms into a new image

Soon

Just a glowing memory remains
Where something beautiful had once been.

A Kaleidoscopic experience.
A metamorphic life.

A black and white photograph capturing a candid moment among a group of young people, likely students, in an outdoor setting. The scene is framed by a wooden fence in the foreground. Several individuals are perched on the fence, while others stand behind them. A young man in a striped shirt is visible on the left, and a young woman in a light-colored top and dark pants is in the center. The background is filled with the dense foliage of trees and the structure of a building, suggesting a campus or park environment. The overall atmosphere is relaxed and social.

As we wander
through
the kaleidoscope
of
an ever-changing world
We are transformed
into a new dimension.

An image,
not only of what was,
but
of what is left to be.

Junior prom

From all outward appearances May 19th was a typical spring night, but for many of us it was a night of nervous anticipation as we prepared for the big occasion - the Junior Prom. After beginning the night with the traditionally endless picture taking sessions, we gathered at Ridge to meet with friends and share some interesting experiences (like maybe losing the keys?). Then it was off to Weymana and the formal beginning of the Prom. Once there, for some an accomplishment in itself, we entered and were seated at a table with but a few minor skirmishes over seats. We ate our "simulated" roast beef, talked among friends, danced and had our pictures taken again, and again, and again. As the evening drew to a close, we were treated to a rather unusual rendition of "If" which the band was persuaded to play. And so with favors in hand, beer mugs and brandy snifters, we went our separate ways to parties, out to eat, bowling, or whatever... (bowling?).

Yet, kaleidoscopically speaking, whether we had a great time or something less, the Junior Prom will always be a part of our memories and that in itself makes it very special.

TEENAGERS

Blow dryers, make-up, and corduroy jeans
are standard equipment in a house full of teens.

A phone that is busy for hours on end,
walls full of posters, records to lend.

Continuous showers and endless shampoos,
imagine the gallons of water they use.

When they get a license, they forget how to walk,
and they never have time for a heart-to-heart talk.

The teenager's stomachs are bottomless pits,
they buy oodles of ointment to help zap the zits.

T-shirts that carry a message are in,
and blouses are naked without a stickpin.

A language that only their peers understand,
hair that is feathered and rings on each hand.

Ears that are pierced and lots of gold chains,
those very high wedgies cause such aches and pains.

They spend so much time getting ready for school,
it's really important that everything's "cool."

To the seniors of '79

Now look back
on your last four years
on all the smiles
and all the tears
on all the fun
and all the fears
now look back.

Remember your friends
that always cared
Remember the moments
that you all shared
And all the hard times
you all beared
Now look back.

Now look forward
the future unclear
Remember the people
who helped you here
who gave you a start
and helped you along
hoping you'd learn
right from wrong

before it was..

A substantial movement toward a more useful Rapid Transit System has been the extension of the Red Line from Quincy to Braintree. This extension will make Inbound travel easier for commuting people and may save them money. This photograph (left page) taken in the late 1940's shows the vast changes with the addition of the expressway and now the coming T. It's quite clear that the town is still growing at a fast rate.

Monday of wamp week was Nationality day. Students and faculty were asked to dress in outfits and colors to reflect their Nationalities. Linda Bujarski took first for her colorful German costume, Mr. Larson took second for his unusual Viking attire, and Maura Murphy (below) placed third for her exceptional Irish outfit. The day was also highlighted by the Red Cross Blood Mobile visit and fifty-two pints of blood were donated by students and teachers. Day one of Wamp Week was an interesting and unusual experience.

On Tuesday, many students and faculty members showed their school spirit by dressing as clowns. During the day, many painted faces and brightly colored costumes were seen throughout the halls. A bubble-gum blowing contest was held and ribbons were awarded for the biggest bubbles and the best costumes. First prize was given to Donna Akins, second place was awarded to Kathy Keelon and third prize was given to Kathy Lewis. It was a fun-filled day as Braintree students and faculty proved that this year, the Wamps would make clowns out of Norwood!

thursday

Thursday was spirit color day and students were asked to dress in the color of their class. Freshman wore white for their purity, sophmores wore green for the envy of upperclassmen, juniors wore gray for their partially corrupted minds, and the seniors wore black for their thoroughly corrupted minds. Prizes for the day were awarded to these seniors, 1st Carol Melchin, 2nd Carol Jones, 3rd-Dianne Gorman. Spirit chains displaying class colors were constructed outside the cafeteria and students could add a link to their class chain for only five cents. The black senior chain was the eventual winner, three times the length of the underclassmen's chains. Thursday was a spirited and exciting day as the Homecoming drew nearer.

The final school day of wamp week was designated as "Wamp Day" with students dressing in blue and white, team uniforms, and indian costumes to display the spirit of Braintree High. To start the day, Wamp Indians made the traditional crossing of Sunset Lake in canoes (above) as students were arriving at school. Wamp headbands, blue and white carnations, and pennants were sold throughout the day. Classes were dismissed early so students could attend the pep rally held in the gymnasium. Prizes were given for the best costumes of the day with Karen Hum & Janet Gately winning first prize, Cindy Clancy and Suzanne Hegarty taking second, and Paula Maloof and Janice Page placing third.

we won the Norwood

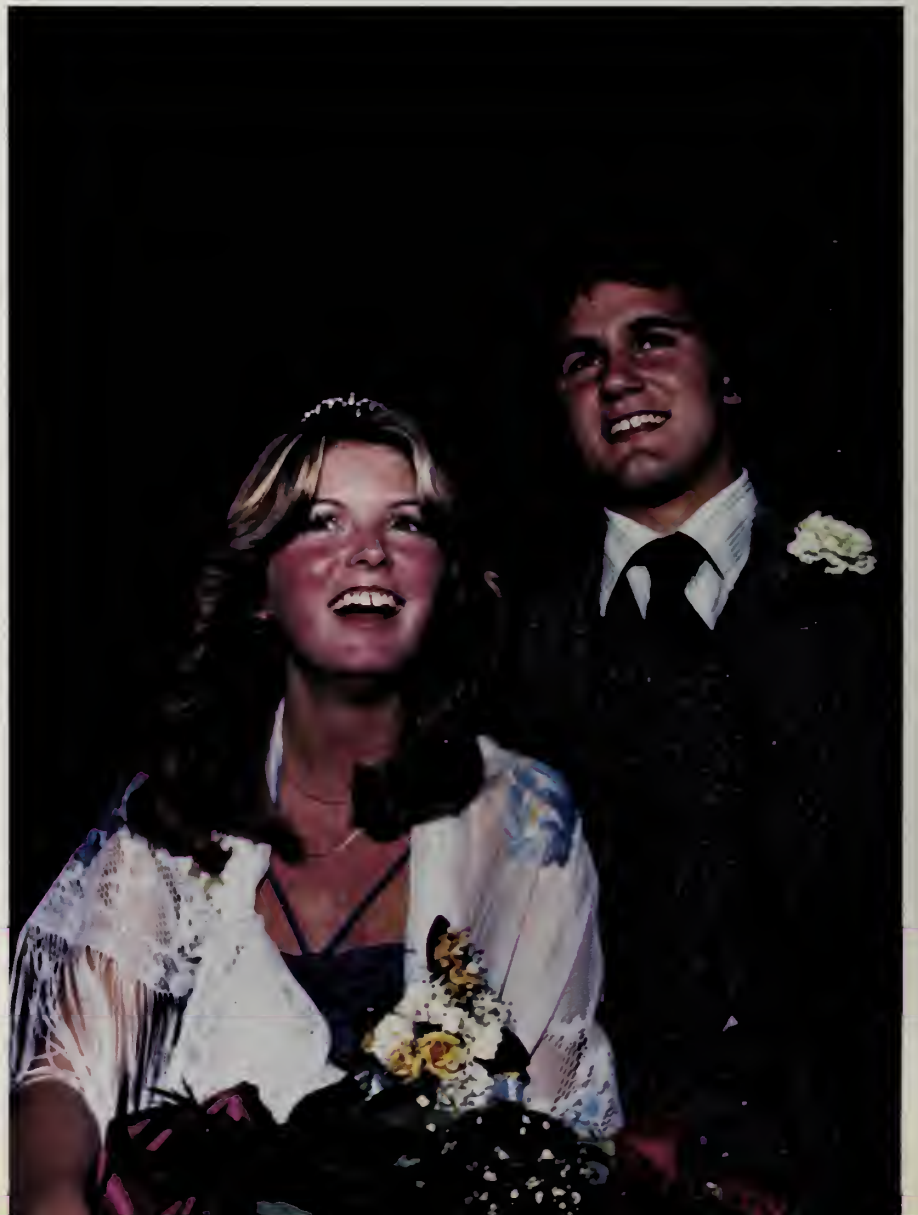

The Homecoming Football Game was an exciting and memorable event for all. Braintree's opposition was the 1977 defending champ, Norwood. The powerful Mustangs were on the scoreboard first but the Wamps came back with a touchdown of their own. At half time, the score was 15 - 7 Norwoods favor. Braintree attacked in the second half and played exceptional football. The Mustangs scored their third touchdown tying the game but missed the extra point. The Wamps recovered the ball and marched down the field as time was running out. Approaching the final minutes the score was locked at 21 - 21. Excitement was mounting and with only 9 seconds left in the game, Braintree kicked the game winning field goal. The fans went wild as the scoreboard flashed 24 - 21. Braintree had triumphed thanks to the super spirit and an all-out team effort. What a game. . .

PRESENTS

NOVEMBER 17 & 18
8:00 P.M.

BRAINTREE HIGH AUDITORIUM

The annual fall play was presented November 17 & 18, by the Braintree High School Dramatics Club. The production was a combination of both Modern and Shakespearian Drama entitled Love Makes the World Go Round. An unusual aspect of this presentation was the absence of real leads. Each member of the cast, dressed in black, shared an equally important role. The host and hostess for the evening were Bob Dean, the president and Janine Doherty. Other senior participants were Carol Melchin, Peter Sullivan, Cheryl Digatano, Tricia Gillespie and soloist, Heather Shattuck.

winter concert

The performing groups of Braintree High School presented their annual Winter Concert on December 14, 1978. The orchestra, madrigal singers, band, concert choir, and combined chorus spent long hours preparing for the special event. The resulting performance was well worth the effort as the groups provided the audience with a pleasing combination of both Christmas and general music. Winter Concert '78 was a fine start to the holiday season.

A black and white photograph of a group of approximately 20 people, likely a faculty or staff group, posing in a modern interior space. The group is arranged in two rows, with some individuals seated at round tables in the foreground and others standing behind them. The room features large windows, a bookshelf, and a high ceiling with exposed structural elements. The people are dressed in a variety of styles, including sweaters, blouses, and suits. The setting appears to be a library or a study area, with bookshelves visible on the right side of the frame. The overall atmosphere is professional and organized.

According to research checked by the 3 largest yearbook companies in the country, we at Braintree High School are the first school in the U.S. to produce a completely "camera ready" book using the new "copy-dot" method for making half-tone photographs. The goals to produce a great yearbook and learn about the latest techniques in the publishing industry were set up at the beginning of the year. We feel we have accomplished these goals. As a staff we hope you will enjoy your book and wish you the best of everything in the future.

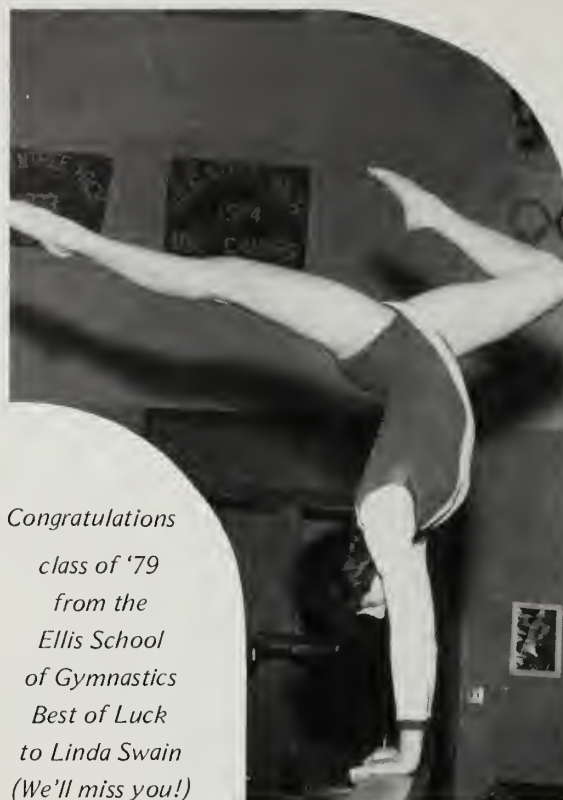

"To The Class of '79"

*Remember the good times.
Those unforgettable moments
That are now our memories.
We have our future,
We have our dreams,
We look there with hopes
that will fulfill our lives
That future, will soon be our present,
take it slow.
Beware of each day that goes
by because,
before we know it;
We'll be looking at the past.*

*And we have our friends
Who have made it worthwhile,
Together we have memories
of our yesterdays.
We hold on to them, as
We dream toward our tomorrows.*
